Some random thoughts by the pastor...

Evangelization has come to mean — for some — getting people to church/Mass. Jesus approaches evangelization from a different perspective in today's Gospel reading from Luke. He sends the disciples out to live among people. They are to take with them no baggage. Their only purpose for living among the people is to proclaim by their lives that God dwells with us. They have nothing to prove. They have no truths to argue. They have no status of superiority. They have no agenda. They are servants who are available to God's healing mercy in their own lives and share this healing mercy with others. One side-effect of this approach is community. God is good.

Parish updates:

Parish representatives and priests of Saint Mary, Saints John & James, and CTK met on Tuesday, June 21st. It was an amiable meeting in which we agreed to create a vision statement in which we will explore possible ways that the three parishes can work together. The statement will be reviewed at a later meeting and then it will be presented to the parishioners of each parish for review. Only after the parishioners in each parish have had a chance to review, provide their input, and approve the statement, will the statement be finalized. We accept that this process cannot be rushed.

We will begin to paint the exterior of the (former) school building this coming week. It will probably take a couple of weeks to complete.

fr. tim
