Some random thoughts

A key sentence in today's Gospel story from Mark is, 'Jesus, looking at him, loved him' Knowing that we are loved and participating in love is all that is necessary, Jesus says. Everything else are finite substitutes. They are not necessarily bad, impure, or immoral. They are attachments that always need more. They are like any addiction. Knowing and participating in love opens us to infinity. This is the invitation that Jesus offers to the rich young man, to his disciples and to us. God is good.

Parish Updates: We have mailed Bazaar raffle tickets to everyone registered as a parishioner of CTK. We would love to have people gathering for our annual Bazaar, but a concern to keep everyone safe prevents us. Again, this year the prizes are monetary only. The monies raised will benefit the ongoing expenses of CTK. Thank you for your generosity and good luck!

COVID 19 and wearing of masks ... The safety of all who participate in our Eucharistic celebrations is a primary aim and concern. It is with this in mind that I suggest that everyone consider wearing a mask when participating in Mass (beginning November 6-7). This is not a mandate. It is a suggestion that all volunteer to wear a mask for the safety of each other. I am concerned for each of you, unvaccinated and vaccinated individuals alike. While the severity of the virus increases dramatically and too often leads to death for those who are unvaccinated, complications can also occur in vaccinated individuals. As Pope Francis encourages ... Let our loving concern for each other guide us.
