Some random thoughts

The desire for power is built into our fear for survival. In Darwinism, it is called 'survival of the fittest'. The desire for power has been balanced through the years with a desire to provide for those who have no power. The Book of Leviticus, Deuteronomy, the prophets, and Jesus, for example, admonish us to provide for those without power. Jesus goes further, instructing his disciples to identify with the powerless. The balance, however, almost disappears when the dominant teaching of society and religion focuses on individualism. The Age of Enlightenment (in culture and in religion) emphasizes (almost exclusively) the individual. 'Jesus and ME' or individual salvation, and 'what is in it for me' or 'my rights' become our motivation in religion and culture. In Roman Catholicism, the sacraments outweigh everything else and clerics use this emphasis as their means of power over or dominance. A return to balance happens with the Second Vatican Council, but it is short-lived. The desire for power is too great without an ongoing and personal awareness that God loves ME uniquely, and the balancing awareness that God uniquely loves everyone and all of creation EQUALLY. From this perspective, community balances individual salvation and my rights. God is good.

Parish Updates: We have mailed Bazaar raffle tickets to everyone registered as a parishioner of CTK. We would love to have people gathering for our annual Bazaar, but a concern to keep everyone safe prevents us. Again, this year the prizes are monetary only. The monies raised will benefit the ongoing expenses of CTK. Thank you for your generosity and good luck!

COVID 19 and wearing of masks ... The safety of all who participate in our Eucharistic celebrations is a primary aim and concern. It is with this in mind that I suggest that everyone consider wearing a mask when participating in Mass (beginning November 6-7). This is not a mandate. It is a suggestion that all volunteer to wear a mask for the safety of each other. I am concerned for each of you, unvaccinated and vaccinated individuals alike. While the severity of the virus increases dramatically and too often leads to death for those who are unvaccinated, complications can also occur in vaccinated individuals. As Pope Francis encourages ... Let our loving concern for each other guide us.
